

Invitation to a specialist training day for chairmen and members of remuneration committees

Remuneration committees have never felt more under pressure and scrutiny; and yet the need for confident, strong leadership on strategic remuneration has never been more important.

In recognition of the unique pressures that exist in chairing or serving on a remuneration committee, MM&K are offering a training day aimed at equipping non-executive directors (NEDs) to fulfil this demanding and challenging role. The day is for both new to role NEDs, who can use it as an opportunity to learn the key requirements of the role, and experienced remuneration committee members who would welcome the chance to make sure they are up to date on the latest thinking about executive remuneration.

MM&K is a firm of remuneration advisers. We have been in business for over 40 years and are one of the few remaining independent organisations working in this area. We advise numerous listed companies on their remuneration. We are also the most prominent adviser on remuneration to Private Equity and Venture Capital organisations in the UK as well as being remuneration adviser to a large number of private companies.

Our experienced team will cover a wide range of crucial areas, including:

- How to make the linkage between corporate strategy and remuneration
- The legal duties and requirements of remuneration committee members
- How to construct a remuneration report
- Effective communication with shareholders regarding remuneration

Programme Details

Tuesday 4th July 2017

City of London Club, 19 Old Broad Street, London.

Price: £340 (inc. VAT)

Early bird: £250 (inc. VAT)

(Early bird discount applies to bookings made before 19 May 2017)

The training approach will include: examples of good practice; theoretical underpinning and research results; remuneration governance and the annual timetable; checklists for compliance and an opportunity to discuss problems and experiences with other participants.

If you would like to attend, please contact: tracy.smith@mm-k.com